NO QUESTION OF RATES INVOLVED.

Q. At the organization of the Northern Securities Company was there any understanding with Mr. Hill, or anybody else, for the regulation of rates, the stifling of competition or simflar considerations? A .- No. sir.

Mr. Morgan absolutely denied that there was any understanding or agreement in the organigation of the Northern Securities Company, looking to the control of rates or traffic, or any agreement that would in any manner obstruct or contemplate the obstruction of commerce. He said that all parties to the agreement had acted

After Mr. Stetson was through with his crossexamination Mr. Morgan was taken in hand by Mr. Boutelle. Mr. Morgan said that under the scheme of reorganization no plan had ever been offered to the stockholders by which they could change their preferred stock for common stock. "Such a plan was never thought of," he said. Mr. Boutelle asked Mr. Morgan why the retirement of the preferred stock was not determined on before 1901, and why it was precipitated at just that time

Mr. Morgan replied that the retirement of the preferred stock at the earliest opportunity was part of the reorganization plant of 1896.

"The retirement could not, however," he continued, "be brought about until the credit of the company had reached a stage where its common stock sold at par or above. No definite plan had been determined on until the retirement actually took place. There was no other plan possible under the terms of the reorganization."

"Do you know that the preferred stockholders would have refused to convert their securities into common stock" asked Mr. Boutelle.
"Certainly not; they would have done so with the greatest pleasure." the financier replied.
As soon as the lawyers were through with Mr. Morgan an adjournment was taken until this afternoon, when George F. Baker, one of the stockholders in the Northern Securities Company, will testify. pany, will testify.

CENT-7 PER CENT PAID. The briefs in the injunction suits brought by Harry and Walter Content and Isidor Wormser, jr., to restrain the transfer of the property of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company to the Interurban Street Railway Company, under the recently executed lease, were submitted yesterday to Justice Gildersleeve. After reciting the facts of the agreement by which the transfer through lease was to be made, the brief for the plaintiffs states that the stock of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company has for the last three years been paying a dividend of 7 per cent, while the earnings are increasing from year to year. As a reason for urging that a permanent injunction be issued, the plaintiffs contend that a railway corporation cannot alienate its property and franchises without the consent of the State through the medium of the legislature, where such alienation consists of a transfer to another railroad corporation. The lease of the Metropolitan company to the Interurban company, it is asserted, is in direct contravention of this legal prohibition.

The brief then proceeds to attack, clause by clause, every portion of the lease, and attempts to show through the citation of laws and the decisions of courts that the conveyance is illegal, and consequently should be stamped as vold through the medium of an injunction. Further on the brief characterizes the transfer scheme as a fraud upon the minority stockholders, even though it appears legal on its face, because it aims to deprive the minority stockholders of their legal rights, and will therefore materially depreciate the value of their property. The brief closes with a prayer that the injunction be

In their brief the defendants assert that the provisions of Section 78 of the Railroad law, authorizing a lease from one railroad corporation to another, have been strictly complied with.

The Court is not to pass upon the policy of the lease or the expediency of its conditions or the sufficiency of the rental, if not grossly inadequate, nor is it called upon to balance probabilities of profitable or unprofitable results. In a word, the Court cannot substitute its own judgment upon a business question for that of the directors and a majority of the stockholders, provided they are acting honestly. Surely the directors and stockholders are entitled to every presumption of good faith and to have every reasonable doubt resolved in their favor. The decision of more than the majority required by the statute ought not to be reversed by a court except for conclusive reasons, nor the will of a factious minority substituted for the judgment of the directors and of four-fifths of the holders of stock. Particularly are the settled rules to The Court is not to pass upon the policy of the of stock. Particularly are the settled rules to be applied by the Court when, as in the case at bar, an overwhelming majority approves of a lease or other corporate transaction.

The brief states that the elements of fraud are lacking and denies that the Metropolitan John Brown, the cashier of the place, be returned company is to secure insdequate rental. The question of policy acted upon by the directors and stockholders "I submit that this money is evidence," replied was quite urgent. The plan adopted was to Mr. Comstock, "and should be turned over to the acted upon by the directors and stockholders lease the railroad system on a guaranteed rental of 7 per cent and to sell for $23,000,000 securities which could not have been sold for more than that amount to any other party than the Interurban company. As this sale included almost $8,000,000, par value, of the Third Avenue company's stock on which the Metropolitan company had guaranteed dividends soon to become payable, notwithstanding that the Third Avenue lease was as yet unprofitable, and included $11,000,000 of Metropolitan 4 per cent Lying in the bottom of one of the crank pits of the steamship La Touraine, of the French Line, while every revolution of the enormous steel beam tore his body limb from limb, was the fate of Jean Lael, an olier. DEVERY'S FRIENDS TO THE REAR. Police Commissioner Partridge spent yesterday conferring with the captains of precincts in Manhattan and The Bronx other than those in the First Inspection District on plans to cut down the number of plain clothes men in the precincts, and to put the control of those left more direct from headquarters, in order to do away with the "ward man" evil as much as possible.

"I am not going to make any hard and fast rule, so that a captain who fails in his duty can say that I hampered him," said the Commissioner. "But I have my ideas as to the number of men needed in a precinct, and I am going to have something to say as to the personnel of the plain clothes staffs of the commanders. I am having each captain here. We will both make concessions, un doubtedly "

The Commissioner said significantly that ever after some precincts had had their quota of plain clothes men cut down, he might remand some of the remainder to patrol duty, and put others in their places. This without doubt means that he is going to take advantage of the situation, with-out showing his hand too openly, to get out of their advantageous positions some of the "ward men" who have been watching things for ex-Deputy Commissioner Devery, and who in some precincts have been more powerful than the captains

ONERS AND A BIG PLANT.

Five men regarded by United States Secret Service agents as among the cleverest counterfeiters ever captured near New-York were arrested on Tuesday at Corona, Long Island. The arrests were made by William J. Flynn, in charge of the Secret Service in the New-York district, and Agents Connell, Taylor and Klenke. The prisoners were Santos Carusa, Frank Ajello, Marano Masso, Paul Noto and Antonio Schairo. They were caught at the home of Carusa, at Cambridge-ave. and Pine-st., Corona.

There was in the house one of the most complete outfits for manufacturing five-dollar gold pleces and twenty-five, ten. five and one cent pieces that have been found in many years. Judging from appearances, the men were nearly eady to put out the counterfeit money. The plant consists of a 70-ton hydraulic press.

arrest. Schairo jumped out of the kitchen window, but in climbing a fence his clothes caught on the sharp point of a picket. He was quickly handcuffed. The other men submitted quietly to arrest. A search of the place revealed on the second floor, in a small room, a complete engraver's outfit, with several five-dollar gold pieces which were declared to be almost perfect in a correct respect event weight. There pieces which were declared to be almost per-fect in every respect except weight. There were also found eight dies used in striking off these coins and double sets for the twenty-five, ten, five and one cent pleces, all equally perfect in design. In the two silver pieces sil-ver was used, and German silver for the five-cent pieces. In an adjoining room metal for these coins was found. There was little gold in the counterfelt gold pieces which were these coins was found. There was little gold in the counterfelt gold pieces, which were heavily plated. In the basement were the presses and a number of counterfelt coins, which apparently had just been struck off.

It was said that the plant was found through the circumstance that the men from time to time bought silver in bulk in Manhattan. The arrests were delayed till it was thought the gang was ready to float the coin. The prisoners were taken to Brooklyn and locked up in the Raymond Street Jail. Yesterday morning they pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Benedict, and were each held in $5,000 bail for examination on Monday.

HAD LIST OF WELL KNOWN MEN.

PRISONER ACCUSED OF SWINDLING BY MEANS OF HARD LUCK STORIES.

James R. Crawford, who is also known as Captain John Crawford, who was arrested on Tuesday on omplaint of Special Agent James Forbes, of the Charity Organization Society, was arraigned before Magistrate Mayo, in the Yorkville court, yes-terday, charged with obtaining money under false pretences. He was held for examination on next Cuesday morning.

The prisoner had lists of nearly two thousand names of well known persons, from many of whom, it is alleged by Forbes, Crawford obtained money by false stories. Among names marked in an im-proper way were those of Thomas F. Grady, Abraam Gruber, Edward Lauterbach, Colonel W. D. Mann, John Whalen, John J. Scannell, James D. Hague, Edward C. Ledyard, Samuel D. Babcock, Hugo Benedict, Ernest S. Bliss, Randolph Guggenheimer, C. S. Van Rensselaer, Mayor Low, Charles A. Peabody and Henry W. Poor. The prisoner ilso had an account book showing that his recelpts averaged between $4 and $5 a day.

Crawford declared that in 1893 he was superintendent of the East Side Relief Work Committee tendent of the East Side Relief Work Committee, which was managed, he said, by Mrs. Dr. Jane Elizabeth Robbins, of the University Settlement. "I have always earned an honest living," said the prisoner, "and the police and the Charity Organization Society can't get a single person to testify that I secured money from them wrongfully. The only money I got was from friends of former years, which I had a right to do."

Agent Forbes said that his society had received numerous complaints about Crawford's operations, and that the prisoner was the most skilful "letter writer" that had operated in this city since 1893. The first scheme practised by the prisoner, Forbes said, was to prevail on women interested in the work of the Prison Reform Association to give him aid. He told them stories about having been in prison, having a stain upon his character and being therefore unable to get work. Forbes said that John F. Sheehan and ex-Postmaster Charles W. Dayton had been swindled by the prisoner.

OUICKLY CURED.

QUICKLY CURED.

Dear Sirs:—I picked up one of your circulars on a table about a month ago and read it through. After reading I went out and bought a bottle of your whiskey, which helped me right away. I am now on my third bottle, using it for so-called incurable consumption, and I feel for so-called incurable consumption, and I feel like a new man. I think that if I had known of your whiskey when I was at home in Chicago, I would have never come out here for my health. ED. SCHUBARTH, 1608 Market Street, Denver. October 18th, 1801. There are thousands of cases just like that of Mr. Schubarth and Mrs. Allingston, where the patients thought they had incurable consumption until their doctors prescribed Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is absolutely pure and possesses more curative power than all other medicines. It contains no fusel oil, so common in other whiskeys, and power than all other medicines. It contains no fusel oil, so common in other whiskeys, eaperlaily for the diseased system, when the poison takes effect.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey not only drives out consumption germs and heals the lungs, but it builds up new tissue and renovates the entire system. It ailds digestion, stimulates and enriches the blood, tones up the heart, invigorates and builds up the body so that it will throw off all disease. At the Medical Convention in Albany, one of the leading doctors said he would rather have Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey to cure consumption, catarrh, asthma and diseases of the throat and lungs than all the quack medicines in the world, and the doctors present agreed with him unanimously. Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey is good for old and young. It has carried the blessing of health to hundreds of thousands of poor sufferers. Many have tried to imitate it, and unreliable dealers have been known to try to sell their customers some cheap substitute, because there was more profit in the substitute. So we caution our patients to be careful and see that "Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey" is on the label, and that it is our own patient bottle, with the name blown in the bottle. This is the only way Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey is soid. If offered in bulk or in flasks it is a fraud.

Write Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, X. Y., for two game counters for whist, euchre, etc.; enclose 4 cents in stamps to cover postage. Valuable medical booklet free. Mention this paper. Duffy's Malt Whiskey is sold by all druggists, grocers or direct, $1.00 a bottle. It is the only whiskey recognized by the government as a medicine. Refuse substitutes.

CENTRAL PARK GRIZZLY DIES HARD

AFTER A FUTILE ATTEMPT TO END HIS LIFE WITH CHLOROFORM, KEEPER SHOOTS THE BEAST.

An old grizzly bear, one of the two in the Central Park Zoological Garden, was shot and killed yester-day afternoon. The bear was paralyzed in his hind legs and suffered from old age as well, so it was decided that it would be merciful to kill him.

Usually, when it is necessary to kill a bear in the park chloroform is used. This was tried on the old grizzly yesterday but unsuccessfully, though sev eral attempts were made. A towel saturated with the drug was placed on the end of a pole and stuck the drug was placed on the end of a pole and stuck under the nose of the bear, but the only result was that he took refuge in his rocky den at the back of the cage. Attempts to lasse the big beast were tried, but with no effective result, for he bit the rope in two. The old bear's companion went to his assistance, and it would have been all a keeper's life was worth to enter the cage. Yesterday afternoon the animal was enticed out of his cave, and one of the keepers sent a rifle bullet through the beast's head.

HAMMERSTEIN HAS NOT CHANGED PLANS.

HE WILL SUBMIT PASSION PLAY TO THE ARCH BISHOP AND ABIDE BY THE LAT-

TER'S DECISION. Oscar Hammerstein, whose proposed production of a Passion Play has aroused an indignant protest from the churches and religious interests of the city, said yesterday that what he had read in the newspapers had not changed his plans.

When the translation of M. Beaulieu's play arrives from Montreal, and I expect it any day, I shall submit it to the judgment of the archbishop," said Mr. Hammerstein yesterday. "If he then con-demns the project I shall drop the matter."

REFUSES MANDAMUS TO DR. NEWLAND. The application of Dr. Theodore H. Newland for a writ of peremptory mandamus compelling Health Commissioner Lederle to reinstate him as diagnostician to the Health Board was yesterday de-nied by Justice Gildersleeve in the Supreme Court. Dr. Newland was removed on January 2. Dr. New land alleged that his removal was to make room es of the office, he asserted, were now being quites of the office, he asserted, were now being performed by one or more physicians friendly to the new administration, who had never passed a competitive examination, as provided by law. He contended that he was the only duly authorized diagnostician who could hold the place. Corporation Counsel Rives, in opposing the application, contended that a removal for the sake of economy did not come within the purview of the section of the charter relied on by Dr. Newland, and that his dismissal without the filing of charges against him was perfectly legitimate.
